

Warm weather

Egypt is blessed with long days of endless sunshine and balmy starry nights. Although temperatures average 25 degrees Celsius all year round, it's usually best to visit between October and April for pleasantly warm days and comfortably cool nights.

Why not grab your chance to relax in the heat on one of Egypt's beautiful beaches? Spend a remarkably restful day soaking up the glorious sunshine, taking a peaceful seafront stroll or cooling off in the Red Sea's spotless waters. Perhaps you'd prefer to enjoy a fiery sunset before stargazing at the spectacular sky? Whatever you decide, you definitely won't be disappointed.
